Music madness

If your greatest love is music be it Madonna or Meatloaf, Michael Jackson or Misty in Rools, MC Hammer or My Bloody Valentine, you'd have to be as Mental As Anything not to watch one of our great music channels — MTV, Cable Jukebox, SuperChannel and Landscape Channel offer you maximum music entertainment whatever you choose (you'd be missing a fab Definition of Sound!)

You certainly won't want to miss MTV's Year in Rock on Friday the 3rd (8-9pm), where they present the cream of reports gathered by MTV's news teams from around the globe during 1991.

Featured in the 1991 re-cap will be The Monsters of Rock Festival, The Video Music Awards 1991, Summers XS Day (with INXS), AC/DC in Moscow, Jesus Jones in Oslo, Tina Turner, ZZ Top, Bryan Adams and many more top stories from the MTV news archives.

You're in for a simply incredible weekend starting Saturday 25th if you're into Simply Red. After a three year absence, the band is back with a brand new album called "Stars", currently taking the music scene by storm, and this month also sees the start of their world tour. During the Simply Red Weekend MTV explores the Simply Red phenomenon through videos, interviews and concert footage.

See our great music competition for your chance to win a copy of Simply Red's latest video Moving Picture Book.

— to win a bumper music pack

Cable Jukebox, the 24-hour phone-in video request channel has been a smash-hit with our viewers since its launch last year.

Here's your chance to see exactly where your favourite music videos fared in the popularity stakes. You'll see that the month of December is missing — that's because we want you to enter our competition, forcasting the top videos for December (see details below).

TOP MUSIC VIDEO REQUESTS

June — November 1991

MONTH	ARTIST	TRACK
June	Chesney Hawkes	One And Only
July	Cher	Shoop Shoop Song
August	Jason Donovan	Any Dream Will Do
September	Bryan Adams	I Do It For You
October	The Prodigy	Charly
November	Jeff Wayne	Eve Of The War

You could win one of three bumper music packs including an MTV satin jacket, T-shirt and baseball cap, a Cable Jukebox rucksack and the brand new Simply Red Moving Picture Book video.

All you have to do is guess which music videos made the top request spots for December (in the correct order), on Cable Jukebox.

Fill in the form and return it by January 31st to: Liz Tilt, Videotron, Ocean House, West Quay Road, Southampton, S01 OXL.

Winners will be announced on your customer information channel.

Southampton Videotron launch new Telephone Service

— save £££'s off your phone bill!

On 16th November Videotron, in association with Mercury, launched a brand new telephone service offering you a new and improved, full Telephone Service, via our state-of-the-art cable network. We can now replace your existing BT service and give you access to all the world's telephone networks. The fibre optic cable technology means quicker dialling, crystal clear sound quality, and faster call connections.

Using the telephone service from Videotron can also save you money — up to 15 % off your current bill if you're also a Cable TV subscriber! That's because charges are cheaper for local, national and international calls and we only charge you for what you use (unlike BT who charge by the unit even if you've only used a fraction of it!).

We can also offer you itemised billing for all calls, one point of contact for service and a response normally within 4 hours (during normal working hours)!

Mr and Mrs King of Bassett were the first customers to be installed with our new Telephone Service on 28th November and they are now looking forward to making a saving on their phone bill. Videotron are currently installing the service in Bassett and will be expanding the service area in the New Year. Call Customer Services to find out when we can connect your home and for more details of the benefits of our new Telephone Service.

EURODISNEY

We're going to give you and your family the chance to go to Euro Disney — the brand new fun and adventure park near Paris, due to open in April! Starting in next month's Cable Guide, we're launching our great Euro Disney Token Collection Scheme — don't miss out!

You are a winner!

Congratulations to Mrs G Small of Millbrook who won a pair of tickets to the London comedy club, ''Jongleurs'', in last month's Moonlighting Caption Competition. Her winning caption is right:

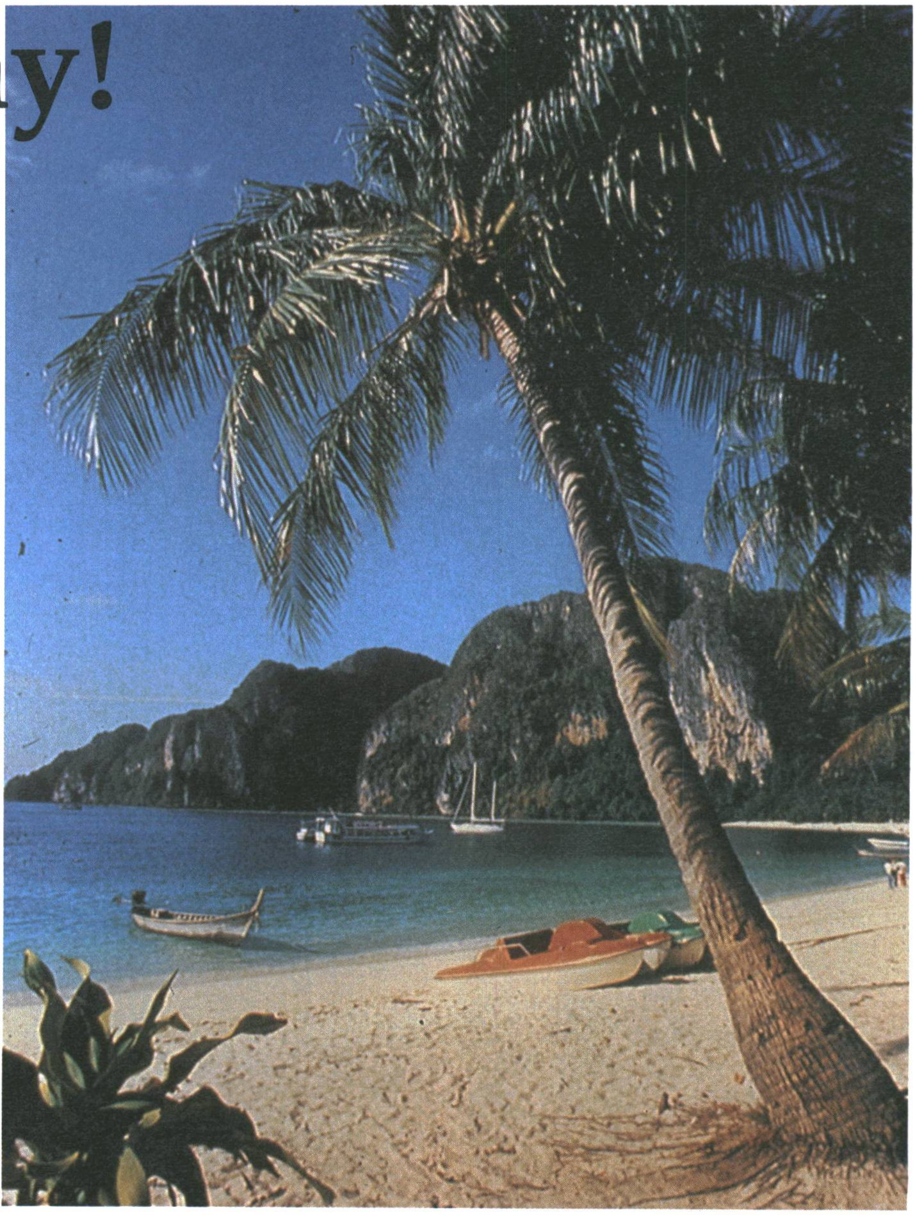
Get away!

Going on holiday? Well whether you're taking a ski holiday or planning your summer stint in the sun, we've got a variety of travel programmes to help you choose the perfect location.

SuperChannel's, The Travel Magazine is a weekly programme screening every Wednesday at 8pm. In the first show of the year (Wednesday, lst) The Travel Magazine takes in three very different and beautiful locations: Vienna — the home of opera and Wiener Schnitzel; the famous winter palace and the Hermitage in Leningrad and then still has time for a quick cruise along the Rhine.

If you haven't yet booked your ski holiday, here's your chance to discover Banff Ski Resort in the amazing Canadian Rocky Mountains — part of Canada's most breathtaking national park. From the Prairies to the picturesque city of Quebec, the Travel Magazine flies east for the colourful Quebec Winter Carnival. Both Banff and Quebec are the destinations for January 8th.

If the words exotic and exquisite are prerequisites when it comes to choosing a holiday, tune-in to Sky News Holiday Destinations on 4th January for a visit to the Seychelles, often described as the pearl necklace in the Indian Ocean. Holiday Destinations will also be visiting Malaysia, Singapore, Hawaii and exploring the wonders of Caribbean cruising throughout the series during January.



Exotic beaches...in the Caribbean.

For more unusual and idyllic holiday locations watch out for CNN' s Travel Guide programme, Sundays at 6.10pm.

Check the programme listings for full time details of all the travel programmes mentioned above.

▲ The natural world will be headline news during Environment Year

Making a world of difference

What on Earth!

- THE JAPANESE are concerned enough about the world's rainforests to have stopped giving trees the chop for their chopsticks. They now use plastic.

Washington DC's zoo has spent over $3million on the most modern animal hospital possible. Limping lions, ailing octopuses and peaky pandas are all treated.

And at the world's largest captive breeding colony of gorillas — located, improbably, in England — strenuous efforts are being made to halt the animal's decline in numbers.

These are three good-news items out of an ocean of environmental worries to feature on Discovery's new series, Earthfile.

Winner of several awards, Earthfile is a 13-part magazine series that outlines the potential solutions of people with progressive ideas. Each edition reports on about five environmental stories, some encouraging, many alarming.

This month Earthfile reveals that the Baltic Sea is now so polluted that if immediate action is not taken it may become unable to support marine life.

Other reports in January focus on the Golden Toads of Costa Rica that seem to have become extinct, the threat to Thailand's Open Billed Storks, and the danger to nature caused by 10-million tons of salt used each year to de-ice US roads.

Rather than simply sounding like the Voice of Doom, however, Earthfile sets out to show how people are attempting to control pollution, poaching and tourism. ■

▶▶ Discovery: Earthfile Sundays 4.00pm repeated Mondays 11.30pm ◀◀

- 1992 will be a landmark year in the effort to give the world a kiss of life.

Mother Nature is hot and bothered, breathless and pock-marked and she needs urgent care and attention.

This is Environment Year and it will see the Earth Summit Conference in Rio de Janeiro this June.

Cable television will be covering the issues and the build-up to this heads-of-government Summit with programmes like Earthfile (above) and The World Environmental News (also on Discovery, from the Spring).

Cable Guide* is joining the World Wide Fund for Nature to review the issues behind the programmes and to offer viewers ways in which they can help. Watch this space! ■

His beat's around the bush!

BUSH IS Australian for unsettled outback desert area, the kind of place that has not got a XXXX to give.

Tucker is Australian for food, well-earned.

Les Hiddins is the Bush Tucker Man, an ex-army survival expert who knows how to unearth tucker in the most forbidding bush.

He has spent 10 years travelling through northern Australia in search of food. Much of his knowledge has been passed on to him by Aborigines.

A documentary team tracked Les through deserts, rainforests, giant ranges and monsoons for over a year to record him revealing the country's natural secrets.

The result is a fascinating eight-part series.

For example, in the third episode, called 'Desert', Les travels into the desert country of central Australia. It's a vast area where early explorers perished and modern non-Aboriginal travellers have met tragedy.

With the Aboriginal descendants of the central nomadic tribes, Les shows that there is an abundance of food and water if you know where to find it.

Brave (he risks his life in crocodile-infested waters), laconic and humorous, there probably are not many men like Major Les Hiddins around. ■

Faye Dunaway reigns in Spain

Columbus makes waves

HAVING SAILED the ocean blue in 1492, Christopher Columbus is set for repeated on-screen celebration this year.

Two films about him have been launched. One is directed by Ridley Scott, who made Alien, and stars Gerard Depardieu. It has enjoyed plain sailing compared to Christopher Columbus: Discovery, which had wanted to recruit Timothy Dalton to star. This production has reportedly encountered legal storms and is having a rough passage.

In any case Sky One will be first to celebrate the 500th anniversary of the voyage with a mini-series called Christopher Columbus.

Gabriel Byrne, who starred in the brilliant gangster movie Miller's Crossing, takes the lead role. Faye Dunaway plays his patron, Queen Isabella of Spain.

And Oliver Reed is sighted as sea captain Martin Pinzon.

The series charts the explorer's life from his days as a map-maker, his frustrating years trying to secure funding for a voyage to Asia, to his voyages to the West Indies and South America. ■

● Killing time

'WHEN I WAKE up in the morning I think maybe I'll have to kill somebody today,' says an inmate of New Jersey's Rahway State Prison.

'This is prison. This ain't no playground. We play for keeps here.

'The big eat the little . . .'

This is advice given to teenagers on a corrective programme for juveniles to dispel any fancy macho ideas they may have about toughing it out behind bars.

Scared Straight, which is presented by Oscar-winning actress Whoopi Goldberg and TV detective Peter 'Columbo' Falk, is a hard-hitting documentary that has won several awards.

It shows how the inmates of a maximum security prison attempt to frighten young offenders until they are scared straight.

Before their visit to Rahway the juveniles boast about the crimes they intend to commit and how they don't care if they are caught.

The hardened prisoners bluntly point out that surviving behind bars is more dangerous than life on the streets.

The most interesting aspect of the two-part documentary is that it traces the convicts and their visitors after a 10-year break to discover if the Rahway visit worked.

There are some revelations in store. ■

▶▶ Discovery: Scared Straight starts on Tuesday 7th at 9.00pm ◀◀

▼ 'The big eat the little': the convict as guardian

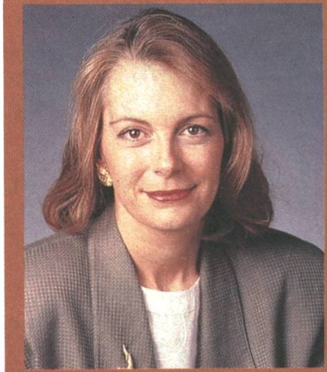
● Omar Sharif heads the star-studded cast of Sky One's Harem: Loss Of Innocence, starting on Sunday 12th at 8.00pm, the tale of a beautiful American heiress who finds love in the swirling desert sands of the Ottoman Empire. Omar is joined by Sarah Miles, Nancy Travis and Art Malik. ■

● Hilary Bowker is CNN's London anchor, presenting daily cut-ins during CNN's World News Bulletins. Fluent in French and Italian, Hilary will also be co-anchoring The International Hour, CNN's daily global news programme, which starts this spring. ■



● At 8.30pm on January 3rd David Frost will be talking to President George Bush, on Sky News, exactly one year to the day since their last conversation on the eve of the Gulf War.

As usual, the questions Frost will be putting to Mr Bush have not yet been revealed, but with a Presidential Election looming, it is highly likely that the American economy will be near the top of the list, along with the changes that have swept the world since Bush came into power at the beginning of 1989. ■

Addams Family T-Shirts must be won!

Q What do Lifestyle and the irrepressible Gomez Addams, devoted husband, swordsman extraordinaire and head of the Addams family, have in common?

A Sally Jessy Raphael.

Sally, host of Lifestyle's controversial daily chat show, makes a special appearance in The Addams Family.

When a listless Gomez zaps through the TV channels he is spellbound by Sally's show.

And why not, as that day's topic is Voodoo Zombies?

While Sally coaxes one of her audience to tell of how her son was abducted by voodoo slave masters, Gomez phones in to the show to find out where they meet.

You'll have to see this hilarious movie to find out what happens to Gomez, but in the meantime why not catch The Sally Jessy Raphael Show every weekday at 12.00noon to find out just what Sally is delving into.

And if you'd like to win a special Addams Family T-Shirt, just answer these two simple questions:

① Who Plays Morticia Addams in the new Addams Family movie?

② Who played Morticia in the original TV series?

The first 10 correct entries opened on January 31st will win an Addams Family T-Shirt. Please state your size and include your name and address on the card.

▲ Fearless volcanologist Katia Krafft

Filming disaster

VOLCANOLOGISTS Maurice and Katia Krafft met their deaths in June 1991 while filming in Japan. They had dedicated their lives to understanding the volcano. Their courage as they descend beneath a hail of boulders amid noxious gasses, is a staggering testament to their bravery and devotion.

Inside the 'Green Crater' of Kawahigeni, the intrepid explorers set sail in a rubber dinghy on deadly caustic waters that have been known to shoot 2000 feet high, while in the cone of Nyirangongo in Zaire, a column of magma towers 1200 metres into the air. ■

KIDNAPPED

● FOR 1,763 DAYS, Terry Waite endured captivity in its most appalling form. Following his release in November, The Discovery Channel presents The Hostages Speak, the story of three men who were taken hostage for very different reasons.

Jean-Paul Kauffman, a 41-year-old reporter, was kidnapped on May 22nd 1985 by Shiite fundamentalists of the Hezbollah. He was held hostage for three years in the name of the Western community.

Newspaper editor Gerhard Vaders, 50, was taken hostage on December 2nd 1975, during the hijacking of a train in Beilen, Holland, and was held for 13 days by South Moluccan separatists.

Edouard-Jean Empain, former chairman and managing director of the multinational group Empain-Schneider, was abducted on January 23rd 1978 after leaving his Paris apartment. He was held hostage for 63 days 'for being a rich industrialist'.

The hostages return to the place of their captivity, reliving their ordeals and describing the difficulties they experienced after their release. They speak of their memories and thoughts as they stand on the very spot where their ordeal took place.

The Hostages Speak is perhaps the closest we can ever get to undestanding their trauma. ■

Rock the Clashbah

THE CLASH are the subject of a brand new MTV Rockumentary featuring interviews with all the band members.

The Clash survived the punk revolution to become a major 1980s post-punk success. Their music attained cult status and is still in huge demand. The end of 1991 saw the release of The Clash: The Singles. The album is tipped as the ultimate in greatest hits collections and features a pantheon of classics like Should I Stay or Should I Go, I Fought the Law, Tommy Gun and Rock the Casbah.

The Clash Rockumentary looks at the band's development and success over the years, and includes videos and rare concert footage. ■

Let freedom ring

THIS SUMMER a competition called 'Sing Freedom' was run in which cable operators contacted local schools asking them to produce a song about freedom, put it on tape and return it to the Children's Channel.

On 19 November, both Ben and the class spent the day at Capital Radio, where they recorded their songs for pressing on to vinyl.

The four songwriters from the Daisy Hill class later visited the Children's Channel studio to receive their pressed records and the other prize, a Yamaha keyboard. They were also interviewed by Gaz Top.

All of which was captured on film and made into a show, which Gaz Top will be presenting on Friday 3rd! ■

SCI FI SEQUEL

HOT ON THE HEELS of the enormously successful The Girl from Tomorrow comes an even more exciting sequel, in which Alana returns to the year 3000 with her friend Jenny and the sinister Silverthorne.

Their journey into the future causes a disturbance in the fabric of time, meaning that Jenny must get back to 1990 as soon as possible to thwart Silverthorne's plans to destroy the world. It's a great science fiction fantasy for all ages. ■

Hulk Hogan tangles with Sensational Sherri, who manages Million Dollar Man

Incredible Hulk!

Among the favourites to come out top of the titanic tanglers at the Royal Rumble is the ring's top star, Hulk Hogan

CROWDS ERUPT, children cheer and foes quake in their costumes at the mere mention of the name Hulk Hogan.

The towering blond from Venice Beach, California, is the WWF Champion and, says the Federation, 'one of the most widely known figures in the world'.

The WWF, which has been known to overstep the bounds of temperate publicity, says Hulk (6'8" and 22 stone) is 'probably the most famous wrestler ever'.

Having dominated the championship since 1984 he 'captured the imagination of the entire world'.

He's certainly the only WWF star to grace the cover of Sports Illustrated. And there's no denying the outbursts of 'Hulkmania' when he flexes his 24-inch biceps and charges screaming into the arena to the tune of Real American.

Hollywood could not resist him and his two films, No Holds Barred and Suburban Commando, have been seen by huge audiences.

The UK premiere of Hulk Hogan: A Real American Story gives an intimate portrayal of the man behind the muscle with interviews and replays of some of his most sensational moments in the ring. ■

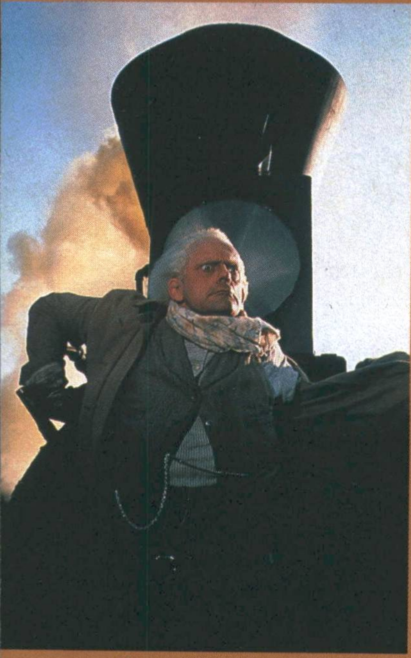
Time travel leaves them cold



Doc Brown (Christopher Lloyd) goes loco in Back to the Future III

THE ORIGINAL plan for the Back to the Future series was that Michael J Fox and Christopher Lloyd should travel through time in a fridge instead of a De Lorean car.

Fox would have had to get into the fridge and close the door to start it up — and that's where the idea came unstuck.

The writers realised that children might try to copy the film and lock themselves in their refigerators. They finally settled on the De Lorean because they liked its gull-winged doors.

Writers Bob Gale and Robert Zemeckis struck on the idea for the original Back to the Future film when they were talking about parents.

'Parents like to impress their kids with stories such as how they had to walk 12 miles through snow to get to school,' Zemeckis said.

'Sometimes kids think, "I can't believe my dad was ever young enough to go to high school and I can't believe my mom ever went out on a date."

'Wouldn't it be interesting for a kid to go back in time to see what really happened?'

There was meant to be only two parts to the saga but Zemeckis and Gale found they had too much material to squeeze in.

So in Back to the Future II they left several questions unanswered for the sequel. Critics trashed part two as confusing and little more than a trailer for part three.

But the final film marked a tremendous return to form.

In Back to the Future III Doc (played by Lloyd) is stuck back in the Wild West of 1885 and having a rootin' tootin' time of it. However, imminent death awaits him and Marty McFly (Fox) has to come to the rescue.

The film has a great deal of fun with the horse-opera setting and adds a new dimension to the genre.

Asked by a cowboy what his name is, Marty says, 'Clint Eastwood', and the mismatch of man and name never falters. ■

Black movies before Spike

THE PRESENT wave of Black filmmakers headed by Spike Lee may be following in the footsteps of a once forgotten industry.

During the Depression years of segregation and racial prejudice, an underground film industry sprang up in America's Black community. Films made exclusively for Black audiences were shown regularly in 1200 theatres across the nation. Not surprisingly, they did not pay homage to white prejudices.

This uniquely Black perspective was lost to history until recently, when a handful of these films was discovered in Tyler, Texas.

Produced by Fred T Kuehnert of The Buddy Holly Story fame, and hosted by William Greaves, That's Black Entertainment is a tribute to America's once-forgotten cinematic past. It sheds new light on Black participation in cinema history and explodes established Hollywood stereotypes of the way black people saw themselves.

Englightening and hugely entertaining, it contains rare and historic footage of seminal Black artists including Paul Robeson, Sammy Davis, Jr, Nat King Cole, Cab Calloway and Bessie Smith, the Empress of the Blues. ■

IN LOVE WITH THE LEADING LADY

FILMING the urban thriller Nikita was a labour of love for director Luc Besson.

He met actress Anne Parillaud (pictured left), wrote the movie around her and then married her. 'I found her fascinating and totally reserved,' he said.

'She has an enigmatic quality that made me want to invent a past for her.

'I was on a plane listening to Elton John's Nikita on my Walkman and I began to build a story around that name.' At first Besson fretted over whether he was being a fool for love.

'I said to myself, "It's not because you love her, it's because she's good". I know now that her performance justifies my choice.'

If the resulting film is a reflection of Besson's feelings for Parillaud, he must be violently in love. Nikita is a junkie living on the streets, scavenging for fixes.

She joins a gang of punks in a desperate burglary on a chemist shop and ends up killing a policeman.

Though officially sentenced to life for murder, she is given the chance to strike a bloody bargain with the State. Declared dead by the authorities, she is offered a new identity and freedom if she will become a government assassin.

Although implausible and extremely violent, the film is stylish and watchable. ■

COP THIS, ANDY

BY THE TIME Andy Garcia starred in the 1990 thriller Internal Affairs, he seemed in danger of being type-cast as a side-kick cop.

Roles in The Untouchables and Black Rain had established him. But Garcia's part in Internal Affairs packed more clout.

He plays Sgt Raymond Avila, a new recruit to the LA Internal Affairs Department. In other words, he polices the police.

This chilling film develops into a murderous duel between Avila and the charismatic, but dangerously corrupt, street cop Dennis Peck (played by Richard Gere).

Its most menacing aspect is the way in which Peck unnerves Avila by establishing an ambiguous relationship with the latter's wife.

Acting the cop did enough for Garcia to help him into a plum part on the other side of the law in The Godfather Part III.

Now Cuban-born Garcia is to play a murdered rainforest campaigner in a David Puttnam production. ■

Arnie's rippling yarn

Beefcake has always been big box office. But where Dolph Lundgren and Chuck Norris are cults, Arnold Schwarzenegger has achieved mass-market appeal

IT USED TO be fashionable for critics to smirk about the impossibly sculpted figure of Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Conan the Barbarian? Austrian Arnie can barely deliver a line in English and he looks (and acts) like a barn door, it was said.

Predator? Blink and you will miss dozens of people being blown-up and burnt alive. The usual lame-brain, Arnie formula.

Reviewers implied that intellectually you could kick sand in the bodybuilder's face and he wouldn't even notice. All Arnie offered was his muscles-upon-muscles physique (Clive James said he looked like a 'condom filled with walnuts').

It is now obvious that the former Mr Universe is no dumbbell and that he was sorely underestimated.

In 1974 Arnie was a thick-accented piece of beefcake collecting body-building titles (five-times Mr Universe, seven-times Mr Olympia). Ten years later came his break-through film, The Terminator.

He arrived in the US in the late 1960s, graduated from small TV parts and the documentary Pumping Iron to his cardboard cut-out role of Conan.

Playing the half-man half-robot Terminator in 1984 set the pattern for Arnie's ensuing big-budget films about assorted mega-death commandos, cops and predators. He also found success with comedy in Twins and Kindergarten Cop.

Sky Movies Plus is giving a first showing to Total Recall, the blockbuster that exposed

Arnie as being among Hollywood's biggest stars (biggest in terms of box-office not biceps).

Newspapers were suddenly surprised by the huge moneybags the muscleman could now pick up.

For Total Recall (1990) he was paid $13million and 15 per cent of the gross, which is probably well over $25million. He also received a private jet plane to keep him happy.

His earnings for 1989-90 totalled $55million, including royalties from earlier films. Hollywood had been trying to film Total Recall since 1979, but it was only when Arnie's box-office clout was enlisted that the reputed $60million budget materialised.

Enormous sets, eye-popping special effects and non-stop death and mutilation almost obliterate the script, which was based on a good sci-fi yarn by Philip K Dick. Arnie plays a man who discovers his real personality has been blocked from his mind.

'If I'm not me,' he asks, 'then who am I?'

The film was an enormous hit that propelled Arnie into 1991's smash hit, Terminator 2: Judgment Day.

Those Neanderthals Dolph Lundgren and Chuck Norris may be cult figures. But Arnie has achieved mass popularity.

Two facts probably best explain his staggering success: he is a gifted businessman and his determination is as awesome as his appearance.

He was wealthy before he found film stardom. In the mid-1970s he turned from body-building competition and used his earnings to finance real-estate deals, which he prefers to stock-market speculation.

▲ Arnie the Barbarian

Armed with a degree in Business Administration he was a self-made millionaire by the time he made Conan the Barbarian (1982).

He has no business manager but looks after investments himself. Art by painters like Picasso and Chagall are another of his investments.

He also has the right connections, namely President Bush, for whom he campaigned in 1988. Though married to the Democratic niece of President Kennedy, Maria Shriver, Arnie's right-wing leanings fit in better with Bush, who has made him chairman of the President's Council on Fitness and Sports.

'I know what I want and that I'm going to get everything I want,' he has said. 'There is no room for doubt in my life — ever.'

Anyone want to argue? ■

The sensation of Italia 90: Roger Milla

A couple of years ago, the African Nations Cup wouldn't have prompted a raised eyebrow of interest among many soccer fans. That was until Italia 90 revealed the Cameroon to the world and, with them, the idea that Africa may rule the football roost one day soon.

OUT OF AFRICA

THE CAMEROON, with boogeying Roger Milla, were the most memorable team of the World Cup. It might be forgotten that Germany won or that Argentina were pathetic, or even that England were better than usual — but those Africans will never be forgotten.

They altered the balance of soccer power in a few astonishing moments of skill. The next World Cup will include an extra African team — and that increase is just the start.

Talent in Africa is not confined to just one country and the African Nations Cup will show cable sports fans an abundance of fascinating soccer mastery.

It is the 18th time that the tournament has been held and it now takes place every two years. Senegal is the host country and 11 other nations join them on 12 January for the opening ceremony.

Normally, the championship is held in March, thereby causing mass absences of any European-based players and consequently a reduction in excitement.

This year, however, the January schedule coincides with the mid-winter break of European football, thus allowing the best talent to be on display.

There has also been an expansion of competing teams in the finals from eight to 12. The tournament has four groups of three teams playing in a mini league with the top two qualifying for the quarter-final knock-outs. The final itself is on 26 January.

The reigning champions are Algeria, who were actually the host nation in 1991. In the final they beat Nigeria, who had also finished runners-up back in 1988 to Cameroon. Those three teams should once again be in the running for medals.

Ghana is another pre-tournament favourite with three top quality European-based players — Nii Lamptey (Anderlecht), Abedi Pele (Marseilles) and Anthony Yeboah (Eintracht Frankfurt). Ghana is also the current World Under-17 champions, another indication of the rise of African soccer power.

Egypt, another success story from Italia 90, has to be regarded as a contender. Striker Hossam Hassan is in form with his club side Neuchatel of Switzerland. His hat-trick in the UEFA Cup helped put out Celtic earlier this year.

Lone-star Seles

Last year Monica Seles was the youngest-ever Australian Open women's champion at 17 years one month

● 'I DON'T talk to lower-ranked players,' said world number-one Monica Seles last season.

Her climb to a solitary pole position started a year ago at the last Australian Open.

Boris Becker and Seles were the tournament's singles winners. Becker appeared overwhelmed by his victory over defending champion Ivan Lendl, saying he hoped to be strong enough to stay the world's number one for the next two years.

It turned out to be a difficult year for Boom-Boom Boris.

But Seles was unstoppable as she won titles and hearts the world over.

That was until the 17-year-old withdrew mysteriously from Wimbledon, snubbed the Federation Cup and hid from the public gaze.

She returned to take the US Open and retained number-one status.

But the controversial star was no longer the public's darling and at the US Open she was booed by sections of the crowd. It's lonely at the top . . . ■

Fine Chaps PERFECT BITCHES & DIRTY RATS

Welcome, Wilkommen, and Bienvenue to 1992 as we head into a brave new Europe looking forward to the past with some vintage releases on Bravo.

THE LEAGUE OF GENTLEMEN

New Year's Day welcomes the year in splendid style, with The League of Gentlemen (1st January) a comic adventure starring Jack Hawkins, Richard Attenborough, Nigel Patrick, and Bryan Forbes, among other British stalwarts, in the spirited tale of an ex-army officer who recruits a bunch of hi-class misfits to pull off a bank heist. Spiffing stuff - and watch for Oliver Reed as a ballet dancer. And a young Elizabeth Taylor learns what it is to be a perfect bitch when she co-stars with Lassie in Lassie Come Home (1st January) - the first and best of the Lassie movies, a wet eye, wet nose story about an impoverished family forced to sell its prized collie (don't bother with mascara). The first of January's Double Bills features the legendary James Cagney in Angels with Dirty Faces (11th January) a classic all-action gangster film with a conscience, featuring the Dead End Kids, Pat O'Brien and Humphrey Bogart. Cagney's not quite the nasty piece of work he plays in Public Enemy (when he tried to use Mae Clarke's nose as a grapefruit juicer) and nowhere near as violent and hypnotic as Cody Jarrett - the mother-fixated mobster he played eight years later in White Heat (11th January) - the second film in the double bill. This is a spellbinding Cagney performance not to be missed, especially his 'top of the world' swansong.

SATURDAY

In Operation Petticoat (18th January) the suave Mr Grant teams up with an energetic Tony Curtis (the only actor ever to play the son of Ali Baba with a Bronx accent) in this Blake Edwards nautical comedy about a submarine crew, and their crazy exploits in the South Pacific. Good fun. This is shown with Indiscreet (18th January) the kind of romantic comedy the urbane Grant does so well. It's an engaging tale, set in England amongst the ultra rich, about an American diplomat who falls in love with a beautiful actress, played by Ingrid Bergman. Irresistable stuff.

Next, in the Comedy Double Bill, comes something naval worth contemplating - We joined the Navy (25th January) - an amusing farce that tells the story of a carefree naval commander and three cadets who get involved in the affairs of a small Mediterranean country. Cast includes Kenneth More, Lloyd Nolan, and Jeremy Lloyd.

Curtain Up (25th January) completes the bill, with Robert Morley, Margaret Rutherford, and Kay Kendall in a droll tale of a seaside repertory company.

Well, that's all from me my fellow European movie afficianados, I'll see you in the one-and-nine's next month - or whatever that is in hard ECU's (I always thought it stood for 'extra close up'?)

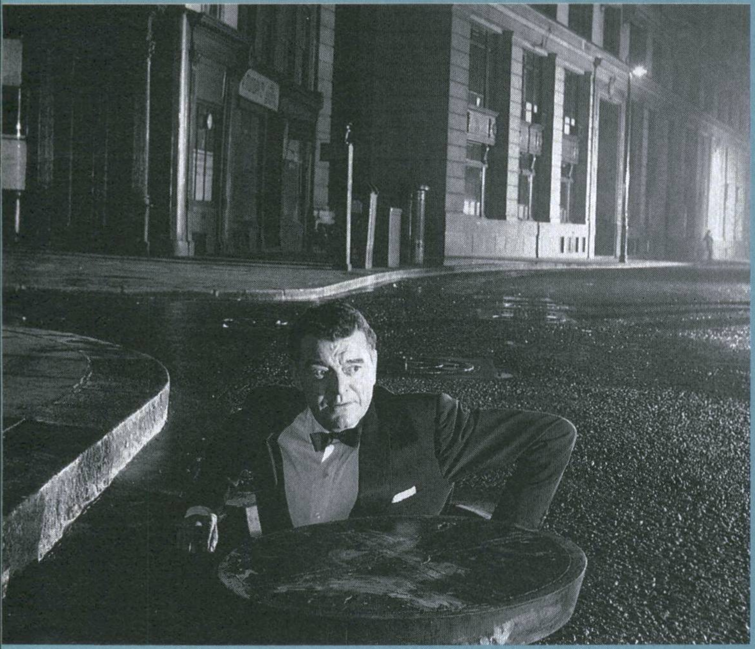
ANGELS WITH DIRTY FACES

Last of the gentlemen



Blowing the lid or going undercover? Jack Hawkins holes up in The League of Gentlemen

● BRITISH FILM idol Jack Hawkins started off as a supporting actor in 1930s movies like The Lodger and I Lived with You.

Death at Broadcasting House (1934) is typical of his work at the time. Written by radio producer Val Gielgud, it's an intriguing murder mystery in which a radio actor is strangled on the air, putting everyone, including stars Ian Hunter and Mary Trevor, under suspicion. Hawkins turned up a little further down the cast.

After World War II service with the Royal Welsh Fusiliers he returned to films and in the 1950s evolved into one of Britain's biggest screen personalities.

Typically portraying tough men of action he was one of the most sought-after leading actors. Successes included Angels One Five, The Cruel Sea and Gideon's Day.

He also appeared in several American epics like The Black Rose and Land of the Pharaohs.

The start of the 1960s found him in top form as a disillusioned ex-army colonel who blackmails former officers into pulling off a big bank heist.

His victims in The League of Gentlemen (1960) include such British stalwarts as Nigel Patrick, Roger Livesey, Richard Attenborough, Terence Alexander, Norman Bird, Keiron Moore, Bryan Forbes (who also wrote the screenplay) and Forbes's wife Nanette Newman.

Hawkins's career was severely affected in 1966 when he lost his voice after an operation on his larynx. But he continued to appear in films, with his speaking parts dubbed by others, until his death in 1973. ■

Cold-blooded Cagney

WHEN IT COMES to the portrayal of self-destructive psychos, James Cagney in White Heat (1949) is nearly unbeatable.

He plays Cody Jarrett, a mother-obsessed, cold-blooded murderer. Without charm or remorse for those whose lives he wrecks, he is a despicable creation by Cagney.

And quite a contrast to his earlier gangster roles in films like Angels with Dirty Faces (1938), in which he at least played a criminal with a conscience.

But White Heat is a more chilling performance, particularly the scene in which Cagney collapses in the prison mess hall at the news of his mother's death, all animal moans and flailing arms.

Then there are his famous last words at he enters oblivion: 'Made it, Ma! Top of the world!' It's hard not to watch in horror. ■

'The Fugitive' File

Starring: David Janssen as Dr Richard Kimble, 'The Fugitive'. Barry Morse as Lieutenant Gerard
Screened: September 1963 to August 1967
Storyline: Dr Kimble is sentenced to die for murdering his wife, a crime he did not commit. While he is being taken to prison by Lt Gerard the train in which he is riding is derailed and Kimble escapes. For the next four years he searches for the one-armed man he had actually seen murder his wife, taking odd jobs and new identities, with Gerard hot on his heels the whole time.
Epilogue: The final episode of The Fugitive was seen by more people than any episode of any series in the history of television, until the Dallas episode in which JR's attacker was revealed 13 years later. David Janssen, who owned 23% of the production company that made the series, did not even know the ending until three months before making the final episode. ■

New Year At The Movies

The New Year comes in with a bang with more than 500 top movies to thrill and entertain viewers of all ages.

On Bravo there's the evergreen Lassie Come Home, a tearful but ultimately heartwarming tale starring Elizabeth Taylor and Roddy McDowall; on a more adult note, Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman are Indiscreet in dreamy 1950s London.

Kevin Costner claws his way out of the Mexican desert for Revenge on Sky Movies Plus, and Michael Keaton tries equally hard to escape his own personal morass in Clean and Sober.

HVC brings a change of mood in Bedroom Eyes, as a jogger ends up running further and harder than he'd planned, and film footage of Bessie Smith, Nat King Cole and Sammy Davis, Jr. demonstrates That's Black Entertainment.

Johnny Depp 'rains' supreme on The Movie Channel as a leather-clad juvenile delinquent Cry-Baby, while Hollywood's classic years find the sinister Gale Sondergaard in feline form in The Black Cat.

Meanwhile, Robert Powell is a puzzled airline pilot in Superchannel's chilling Survivor, and Frank Wizard of Oz Morgan is joined by Rita Hayworth in The Dancing Pirate on Lifestyle, the story of a befuddled mayor whose Mexican village is overrun by pirates.

Why not take a closer look at the A – Z for details of other great movies showing this month?

10.00pm HVC. Bedroom Eyes. Late one night, while jogging down a deserted side street, handsome and successful stockbroker Harry Ross catches a glimpse of a read-headed woman through a window. After finding he is compelled to return to the scene night after night, Harry is suddenly involved in a murder of which he can only be cleared by finding the real killer. The only person who believes his innocence is Dr Alixe Barnes, a beautiful psychiatrist who joins him on the trail of bewildering clues and mistaken identities. A gripping but comic thriller starring Kenneth Gilman as Ross and Dayle Haddon as Dr Barnes.

7.00pm Sky Sports. German League Football. A review of the season to date. The Bundesliga is in the middle of its mid-season break, so Sky Sports looks back at the highlights of the first joint season for the unified East and West. The first surprises were Hansa Rostock rising to the top while the famous Munchengladbach sank to the bottom of the 20-strong league.

6.15 The Movie Channel. The Black Cat. A pantheon of classic horror stars gets together in this comedy-chiller about the reading of a will in a gloomy old mansion. Bela Lugosi joins sometime Sherlock Holmes impersonator Basil Rathbone. Heading and admirable supporting cast is raven-haired Gale Sondergaard, later to appear as Rathbone's adversary in Sherlock Holmes and The Spider Woman in 1944. Sadly, her movie career was destroyed by the outrageous blacklisting that plagued so many artists in the late 1940s and early 1950s. Watch out for Alan Ladd in a small role as Rathbone's son.

Today's Choice

8.00pm Sky Movies Plus. Clean And Sober. Michael Keaton stars as fast-living, liquor-swilling yuppie Daryl Pointer, who wakes up one morning to find his girlfriend dead in bed. Desperate to escape the forces closing in on him, he hides out in a chemical dependency centre and signs up for a 21-day detoxification programme conducted in complete privacy. Although he has no initial intention of cleaning up his act, Daryl is forced to take part in the rigorous mental and physical trials of counsellor Morgan Freeman. Don't miss it.

10.00pm HVC. Black Snow. Having been set up by a deadly beauty, Travis Winslow is an honest man caught in the middle of a drugs war following the disappearance of his brother's 50 million dollar drug haul. Both the police and two rival crime lords believe he knows where the loot is stashed. Trusting no-one, he realises he may have become as deadly as his enemies in order to survive among the lowlife criminals that surround him. Starring Jane Badler and a blockbusting performance from Peter Sherayko.

8.00pm Super Channel. The Science Show: Space. The cosmos represents man's last frontier and holds many promises and challenges. This episode introduces us to space as we know it. There are stunning images of what the future for man might hold in this vast black ocean of stars, such as manned stations in orbit housing research scientists, or thrilling flights to planets further afield. The show also investigates the American plan to send a ship to Mars, as well the ideal of Star Wars: a shield in space acting as protection from nuclear missiles.

3.30pm The Children's Channel. Mr Bogus. Based on the famous plastecine character, Mr Bogus is a brand new series from the makers of Widget. Mr Bogus creeps out from his secret hiding places behind the bathroom tiles when everybody has left the house and pokes his nose into just about everything. This results in great fun and mischievous adventures for him, but also makes a lot of hard work for the owners of the house.

Today's Choice

3.25pm Bravo The League of Gentlemen. Jack Hawkins is in fine form as a disillusioned ex-army officer who gets his own back on an ungrateful establishment by planning a bank heist. Helping him out are British stalwarts Richard Attenborough, Roger Livesey, Terence Alexander, Keiron Moore, Nigel Patrick and Bryan Forbes. Although good-natured for the most part, the film takes on quite sinister overtones as the swine-snouted robbers hold up a major bank while wreathed in tear gas. Watch out, too for Forbes pretty wife Nanette Newman, and an indignant Nigel Green before his Zulu days, as a lorry driver disturbed at play!

Today's Choice

10.00pm Sky Movies Plus. The Punisher. The Marvel Comics vigilante hero comes to life in the form of a leather-clad Dolph Lundgren. When his wife and children are killed by the mafia, cop Frank Castle disappears to reinvent himself as The Punisher, a sinister figure who stalks the shadows of the big city seeking to avenge his family's death. However, when the Japanese Yazuka crime gang enters the fray, The Punisher finds himself forced to forge some unexpected allegiances to stay on the right side of truth and justice. Excellent support from Lou Gossett, Jr.

Today's Choice

9.00pm Sky Sports. Americas Cup Preview. Part 2. A look at the boats, their crews and the backers for the 5-month-long series of races. Over $250million has been spent on the race, costs which have forced the British to withdraw from the field and pushed the Swedish boat into troubled financial waters. Japan and Russia, however, are undeterred in their first attempts at the challenge.

10.00pm Super Channel. Survivor. Based on a novel by James Herbert, this supernatural thriller is crammed with surprises. A 747 jetliner gets into trouble after take-off and the pilot is forced to crash-land in a field and is the only one to escape the tragedy. Tortured by guilt over the hundreds who perished, he decides to investigate the crash, and gradually uncovers a web of fraud and deception. Strange things happen to the investigators working on the case, and more mysterious deaths occur. Starring Robert Powell and Jenny Agutter, and directed by David Barbarella Hemmings.

8.00pm Super Channel. The Science Show: Medical Trends. Medicine has changed its outlook radically since the turn of the century, and we have surely not seen the last of its major internal upheavals. What place is there in technical modern-day science for holistic cures and homeopathy? Some people find the old traditional ways far more appealing and this trend is beginning to reflect itself within the medical sciences. Today we take a closer look at acupuncture with needles, as well as the latest development in the field, which uses a laser beam.

10.05pm The Movie Channel. Nikita. A punchy, headlong action assault from French director Luc Besson. Arrested for the cold-blooded murder of a pair of cops, 19-year-old criminal Nikita is sentenced to life imprisonment. The government, however, recognising her daredevil killer instinct, decides that she could be of more use to them as a trained assassin and, after faking her death behind bars of an overdose, sets about 'reprogramming' her to serve the secret service. Starring Anne Parillaud, Jean-Hughes Anglade and Tcheky Karyo.

8.00pm HVC. That's Black Entertainment. During the Depression years of segregation and racial prejudice, an underground film industry sprang up in America's Black community. Films made exclusively for Black audiences were shown in 1200 theatres across the nation. Not surprisingly, they paid no homage to white prejudices. This uniquely Black perpsective was lost until recently, when a handful of these films was discovered in Tyler, Texas. Produced by Fred T Kuehnert of The Buddy Holly Story fame That's Black Entertainment contains rare footage of Nat King Cole, Bessie Smith and Sammy Davis, Jr.

10.00pm Sky Sports. Boxing Documentary. A profile of the great Muhammad Ali, one of the most charismatic figures of this century. He won the world heavyweight title from Sonny Liston at the age of 22, lost to Joe Frazier in 1971 and knocked out George Foreman in 1974 in three of the most classic bouts in boxing history. Outside the ring he refused to fight in Vietnam, became a Black Muslim, changed his name from Cassius Clay, and became a major force in the struggle for Civil Rights and Black consciousness.

Today's Choice

4.55pm Bravo. White heat. A classic gangster movie directed by Raoul Walsh starring Jimmy Cagney. Cagney, of course, plays the mother-fixated gangster who runs into trouble when a government agent infiltrates his gang. Great support from crusty Edmond O'Brien and the alluring Virginia Mayo, seen here as Cagney's downtrodden and understandably fed-up wife. Although Cagney dreams up a novel new use for a petrol tanker, he can't quite repeat his success with the larger tanks at the gas works! Don't miss it.

Today's Choice

8.00pm Super Channel. The Science Show: Pharmacology. Modern medicine owes its success to drug research and its ability to bring relief and cures. We see how the taking of drugs can cause side-effects, and what dangers exist in not taking them as directed. If you have ever wondered how a drug is invented, researched and released onto the market, here is your chance to find out more. Looking for cures to the major killer diseases is an important function and most major drug companies spend the majority of their time and money in this area.

Today's Choice

8.00pm HVC. Frankenstein's Great Aunt Tilly. An outrageously ridiculous movie (which must surely qualify it for cult status in a couple of years time) about the exploits of Baron Frankenstein's descendants, as they attempt to find a way to pay off back taxes so as not to lose the family estate. In the process of all this Aunt Tilly enters a steam car race on top of trying to revive the monster. Starring Donald Pleasence (always good value in kitch horror), Aldo Ray and a less-than-terrifying Zsa Zsa Gabor. Brrrrrrrrr!

3.30pm Bravo. Indiscreet. Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman star in this romantic comedy directed by Stanley Donen. Grant plays an American diplomat living in London who falls for a beautiful actress, but pretends to be married in order to escape her attentions. Based on a Broadway flop by Norman Krasna, the director's use of London instead of New York is a good idea and instills the film with a civilised charm.

10.00pm Sky Movies Plus. Revenge. Kevin Costner is Cochran, a Vietnam vet and Navy pilot who accepts an invitation from his powerful long-time friend Tiburon (Anthony Quinn) to visit him on his sprawling Mexican estate. Once there, Cochran finds himself drawn to Tiburon's beautiful young wife Miryea (Madeline Stowe), although he knows that any attempt to consummate their mutual desire would be fatal, such is the power of his friend's wrath. However, temptation overcomes them both and they are left to face Tiburon's terrible revenge.

8.15pm The Movie Channel. Cry-Baby. Johnny Depp plays Wade 'Cry-Baby' Walker, a leather-clad juvenile delinquent who begins an unlikely romance with frumpy Allison Vernon-Williams. Lured from her secure, moneyed background into a rip-roaring rockabilly world of hoodlum passion, Allison is soon forced to choose between the handsome, hep-cat she loves and the losers she left behind. A soundtrack crammed with obscure gems from the 1950s forms the backdrop to a host of cameos from such seminal figures as Iggy Pop, ex-1950s heart-throb Troy Donahue and Patty Hearst. It could only have come from Hairspray director John Waters.

Australia Day on The Discovery Channel. The Discovery Channel goes downunder to celebrate the anniversary of the founding of Sydney, a city that has changed drastically since its establishment as a penal colony for convicts. Catch up with cute koalas and the sinister white shark, call in on Pat the cowgirl, Regina the goldminer and Edna the bullock yarder, and meet windsurfin' Ray Swarts, bushman Les Hiddins and aboriginal artist Jimmy Pike.

8.30pm Bravo. Lassie Come Home. As well as being a great favourite with the kids, this evergreen classic, dedicated to novelist and war hero Eric Knight, is jam-packed with Hollywood greats. Lending their support to spirited performances from the young Elizabeth Taylor and Roddy McDowall are Donald How Green Was My Valley Crisp, Elsa Bride of Frankenstein Lanchester, Nigel Bruce, best remembered as Basil Rathbone's Dr Watson, and Edmund Gwenn, otherwise known as Chris Cringle from Miracle on 34th Street. The best of the Lassie films, and guaranteed to bring a tear to even the most resilient eye.

8.00pm Super Channel. The Science Show: Modern Scientific Instruments. A great step forward in scientific development has been the creation of high precision instruments. Most major laboratories around the world are now equipped with these tools. The programme takes a look at three: the mercury telescope, the electronic microscope and the chromatograph. The first has brought the heavens into a new dimension with a liquid mirror. The second has enlarged objects by up to 5 million times and the chromatograph breaks substances down into their various components.

10.05pm The Movie Channel. The Prophecies. A satanic horror tale about a young man who visits a friend in Paris to get over the death of his brother. Together the pair visits Marie Mere, a holy place where people gather to find a cure for whatever afflicts them. What our main protagonist discovers is far from consoling, however, as he finds himself face-to-face with a disciple of the devil intent on fulfilling the Six Prophecies of the Book of Lucifer.

After a twelve-year reign, boxer Joe Louis finally went down to Rocky Marciano in 1951. Sky Sports looks at the man who helped Black America step out of the sporting shadows

Louis the legend

MORE THAN half a century after he won the world title, Joe Louis still tops most polls as the greatest heavyweight of all time.

▼ Joe Louis — more than a legendary boxer

But Louis was more than a legendary boxer: he helped Black America to step out of the sporting shadows.

Sky Sports is telling the story of this fighter in the second of a series of boxing documentaries, which feature some remarkable footage from the film library of Bill Cayton in New York.

The Brown Bomber won the heavyweight championship in 1937 and was the first Black man to do so for 22 years. In 1908 Jack Johnson had become the first Black man to win the title, but his seven-year reign was controversial.

America watched Louis with trepidation but his behaviour was impeccable and after hammering German Max Schmeling in one round in 1939 he became a national hero. Louis donated entire match purses to army and navy relief funds and became a much-loved figure.

The Brown Bomber kept the title for 12 astonishing years. After 25 successful defences he retired undefeated in 1949.

His record was marred by his need to make a comeback because of tax debts. He boxed on too long and was knocked out by rising star Rocky Marciano in 1951. ■
